BIG COUNTERFEITING RING IS ROUTED

FIRST COMPLAINT ON NEW WHISKEY RULING IS FILED

Two Men Arrested for Having Still in Possession to Face Trial.

NEW LAW EFFECTIVE

Held Pending Trial on New Law Against Possession of Still.

A test of the new state ruling that possession of mash, still or the worm of a still be considered a felony under state laws will be answered in the complaint filed against Ben Nipps and Jess Daniels, arrested yesterday evening with the confiscation of a complete still and 250 gallons of mash.

The new state ruling, which makes the possession of mash, still or the worm of a still a felony was passed by the lower house of representatives on February 1 and by the upper house on February 2 and later approved by Governor Walton on February 5, when the law became effective.

Under the former laws of the state the possession of a still not in operation was not an offense. The new ruling places the officials in position to rid the country of the booze manufacturer.

The new law provides for prison sentence not less than one year and not more than ten years on conviction.

Law to Aid Officials.

County Attorney J. W. Dean stated that he believed that the far reaching power of the new law would have a telling effect on liquor law enforcement in the county. He declared that the prospects of a prison sentence would cause the prospective liquor manufacturer to think twice before setting up his still for operation.

While the arrest of Nipps and Daniels are the first to come under the new state law, it is believed that a concentrated effort will be made through the co-operation of city and county officers to round all booze law violators up in the county.

The arrest of Nipps and Daniels yesterday afternoon was brought about by Police Chief Wick Adair and Byers Chapman, of the city police force. Over two gallons of whiskey were taken from the two men. W. W. Walker, deputy sheriff was called to the assistance of the city force and a raid was made on the farm owned by the two men but proved fruitless on the first trial. The accused men declared they were through with the booze traffic and were escorted by the city and county force to the place of hiding of the still.

The men were placed in the city jail to await further developments on their case.

the scene of proper ceremonies. Washington's birthday takes on more significance these days in view of his emphatic opposition to entangling alliances with foreign nations.

DEMOLAY GATHER IN ANNUAL MEET

Business Session Held in Afternoon; Banquet on Tonight.

Swinging up Main street in a parade headed by their band the Ada Demolay chapter began its entertainment of the visiting Demolay representatives from seventeen chapters of this district.

Trains from every direction were met by committees from the local chapter and visiting representatives escorted to private homes for their stay at the annual convention which opened here today.

Approximately fifty members of southern Oklahoma Demolay chapters attended the convention which opened today. Three members were scheduled to arrive from each of the seventeen posts organized in this section of the state. Several Demolay posts in this section of the state have sent representatives here.

Visiting delegates were scheduled to assemble this afternoon at 2:30 for the beginning of the business session which is scheduled to last through the afternoon.

Ada and visiting Demolay representatives will be entertained with a banquet at the First Baptist church this evening after the completion of the business matters to come before the convention.

CATHOLIC CHURCHES OF NEW YORK UNDER GUARD

(By the Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—A police guard was posted today at every Roman Catholic church in New York, and all persons carrying suspicious parcels were barred from admittance. Joseph Leahy, police inspector, refused to give any reason for the action. Monsignor, secretary of the diocese, said the church authorities had not asked for police protection for the churches, and believed the action was spontaneous on the part of the police department.

The sexton of a downtown Catholic church said that many thefts from the poor boxes and candle funds had taken place lately and thought perhaps the step taken by the police was due to this fact. He declared that he knew of no threats to burn churches, such as were received in Canada, where more than a dozen Catholic churches have been destroyed by lately, causing an advance of insurance rates of from 32 to 50 per cent.

Young Democrats Gather

PAWUSKA, Feb. 22.—The League of Young Democrats, 2,000 strong, gathered here today for its annual session. The life of Washington as embodied in democratic principles will be the principle items of speeches at today's meeting.

WASHINGTON AIDS FILIBUSTER WAR

Reading of Farewell Address Allows Senators to Plan Campaign.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—George Washington was an unwitting participant today in the senate filibuster against the shipping bill. When the senate convened today a motion was presented to take up the shipping measure, which was displaced last night to enable the senate to act on conference reports and other matters requiring immediate attention, but it was pointed out that several days ago it had adopted a motion by Senator Glass providing that the farewell address of Washington should be read at this time.

The reading of the address occupied the senate for the first three-quarters of an hour and gave opponents of the ship bill an opportunity to map out a program for the day.

Senator Jones of Washington, who is in charge of the bill, expressed himself as satisfied with the events of last night. Laying aside the bill temporarily made it unfinished business and that a motion to take it up again was pending business and must be disposed of before any other action could be taken. Until last night pending business had been the motion of Senator Ladd to lay it aside.

APPROPRIATIONS FOR SCHOOL NOW BEFORE SENATORS

House in Near Riot Over Discussions on Darwin Teaching in Schools.

HOUSE SLAMS THEORY

Senate Works on Warehouse Bill While House Takes Recess for Day.

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 22.—A committee report for the appropriation of $915,000 for division among such districts as are unable to complete full terms of school, was the outstanding action of the senate today.

The measure provides that none of the fund can be spent in districts where teachers salaries were more than $1,500 or where more than $50 per capita has been expended.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 22.—Oklahoma public school children will have to go to libraries and reference books to study the Darwinian theory of evolution, for it will be barred from state school textbooks under an amendment to the free textbook bill adopted by the house yesterday.

As passed the bill carries $2,250,000 and prohibits the adoption of any textbook teaching "the materialistic conception of history and the Darwinian theory as opposed to the teachings of the Holy Bible." The measure now goes to the senate.

Records of the state department of education show that no books have been adopted by the state teaching the theory, but Miami, Chickasha and perhaps a few other places, are said to have adopted texts touching on it. At Miami the question was made the chief issue at the last election of members of the school board.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 22.—While the lower house of the legislature was in recess today, the senate pressed forward with its work with the state warehouse bill ready for final roll call.

The house yet has 166 measures on its calendar while the senate has only half that number.

Criminal Docket to Be Weeded Out in March Session

The criminal docket will be set for trial on April 1, after a weeding out of long pending cases in a hearing on motions demurrers and non-jury matters on March 12, according to J. W. Dean, county attorney.

Over 150 cases have been set for the non-jury hearing on April 12 besides the regular criminal jury docket which will be

Many of the cases now pending have been continued from past terms dating back as far as 1917. These matters will be disposed and the crowded docket weeded out from the jury criminal session to be called April 1.

TWO SENTENCED BY BROWN FOR THEFT OF SHOES

Nig Campbell and Cecil Morton were bound over in preliminary hearing before Justice H. J. Brown Thursday morning on a charge of grand larceny and their bond set at $1,000 but the charge was later reduced to petit larceny and their fine set at 30 days in the county jail after they had pleaded, guilty to the charge.

The two defendants were charged with the theft of shoes from the Smith-Cole establishment.

KLAN CONDEMNED IN TEXAS CLAIM

Papers in Mayfield Contest Suit Entered by Peddy Interests.

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 22.—Charges against the Ku Klux Klan and its officials were made today in papers filed with the senate challenging the right of Earle B. Mayfield to take his seat in the next congress as senator from Texas.

The election contest, claiming that George Peddy was the successful candidate, Peddy ran for senator as a Republican and Independent Democrat. He accused Mayfield during the bitter campaign of being the candidate of the Ku Klux as well as of the regular Democratic organization.

Excessive and illegal expenditures of money by Mayfield, fraud in counting the ballots and other irregularities are charged by Peddy. It is contended that Peddy was actually elected, but that if the senate does not so decide, it is asked that Mayfield be barred from taking his seat.

The Ku Klux are charged in the petition with concealing their real designs under a cloak of patriotic purpose. That it seeks to subvert the constitution and set up by the rule of the invisible empire and conspiracy to defy the authority of federal and state laws is also charged. It was further charged that the organization had "prostituted the Christian religion," and had resorted to force and lawlessness.

GERMAN CABINET MEMBERS FORBIDDEN IN RUHR BASIN

(By the Associated Press)

BERLIN, Feb. 22.—A dispatch from Dusseldorf states that Gen. DeGoutte has forbidden German cabinet ministers to enter the occupied region and instructed the authorities to arrest any minister found violating the order and brought before a military court for trial.

Violations of this decree will subject the violator to heavy penalties and the cities and towns where he is arrested will be fined heavily.

GIGANTIC GROUP COUNTERFEITERS IN NET OF LAW

Principal Cities of Land Included in Territory of Bond Forgers.

HELD IN TOMBS

Sixty-Four Arrests Already Brought About in New York District.

(By the Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—Close connection between many unsolved gang murders in this city and the counterfeiting operations of the ring just uncovered by the secret service forces is believed by officers to be highly probable, and an investigation to ascertain if such were the case is now in progress.

Several of the murders are believed to have resulted from the passage of bogus money and double crossing of the ringsters.

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—Secret service men were today drawing in the strings of the nation-wide net which it is expected will enmesh 1,000 members of an international organization of counterfeiters, reaching its tentacles to every part of the United States and several foreign nations.

The ring is believed to have scattered from $1,000,000 to $10,000,000 in bogus currency, revenue stamps, whisky labels and other things of this nature. Arrests all over the country with raids centered at Chicago, Detroit, San Francisco and other large places are expected. Federal officers believe they have the master minds in custody among the 64 arrested in the metropolitan district and that with the brains of the organization removed, it will be incapacitated.

While secret service men are now rounding up the gang, they have been hunting for evidence against the band for the past eight months. They will include in the final roundup three foreign countries where much of the counterfeit money has been dumped.

Twenty-one of those already arrested were held in the Tombs under bail ranging from $2,500 to ten times that amount. Two others are being held at Newark, New Jersey, also under bond.

Seven distribution points have been located in Greenwich village.

ABORTION CHARGE UPHELD IN COURT

Daugherty Held on Second Count Before Justice Brown.

J. D. Daugherty, Allen financier, was bound over to await the action of the district court on a second charge of abortion from the $40,000 damage suit filed by attorneys of Disie Thompson, also of Allen, in the decision of Justice H. J. Brown Thursday morning.

Attorneys of Daugherty contended that sufficient evidence had not been produced at the hearing on the first charge of seduction Monday before Justice Brown to warrant the holding on the second and more serious charge.

Justice Brown held that evidence produced by an Allen physician and by the landlady at the residence of the plaintiff constituted sufficient grounds to hold Daugherty.

According to evidence introduced in the preliminary hearing before Justice Brown Monday on the charge of seduction, the plaintiff was in a delicate condition three times during her association with Daugherty and by the use of medicines brought about abortion in all instances.

Daugherty was held on a bond of $500, which was made without delay.

FORMER KANSAS CITY MAYOR DIES AFTER LONG ILLNESS

(By the Associated Press)

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 22.—Webster Davis, former mayor of Kansas City, and assistant secretary of the interior under McKinley, died today in a local hospital from heart trouble. Mr. Davis placed William J. Bryan in nomination before the Democratic national convention in this city in 1900.

Washington's Farewell Address Attacks Alliances

Against the insidious wiles of foreign influence (I conjure you to believe me, fellow citizens), the jealousy of a free people ought to be constantly awake; since history and experience proves that foreign influence is one of the most baneful foes of republican government. But that jealousy, to be useful, must be impartial; else it becomes the instrument of the very influence to be avoided, instead of a defense against it. Excessive partiality for one foreign nation, and excessive dislike of another, cause those whom they actuate to see danger only on one side, and serve to veil and even second the arts of influence on the other. Real patriots, who may resist the intrigues of the favorite, are liable to become suspected and obnoxious; while the tools and dupes usurp the applause and confidence of the people, to surrender their interests.

The great rule of conduct for us, in regard to foreign nations is, in extending our commercial relations, to have with them as little political connection as possible. So far as we have already formed engagements, let them be fulfilled with perfect good faith. Here let us stop.

Europe has a set of primary interests, which to us have none, or a very remote relation. Hence she must be engaged in frequent controversies, the causes of which are essentially foreign to our concerns. Hence, therefore, it must be unwise in us to implicate ourselves, by artificial ties, in the ordinary vicissitudes of her politics, or the ordinary combinations and collisions of her friendships or enmities.

Our detached and distant situation invites and enables us to pursue a different course. If we remain one people under an efficient government, the period is not far off, when we may defy material injury from external annoyance; when we may take such an attitude as will cause the neutrality we may at any time resolve upon, to be scrupulously respected; when belligerent nations, under the impossibility of making acquisitions upon us, will not lightly hazard the giving us provocation; when we may choose peace or war, as our interest, guided by justice, shall counsel.

Why forego the advantages of so peculiar a situation? Why quit our own to stand upon foreign ground? Why, by interweaving our destiny with that of any part of Europe, entangle our peace and prosperity in the toils of European ambition, rivalry, interest, humor, or caprice? It is our true policy to steer clear of permanent alliances with any portion of the foreign world; so far, I mean, as we are now at liberty to do it; for let me not be understood as capable of patronizing infidelity to existing engagements. I hold the maxim no less applicable to public than to private affairs, that honesty is always the best policy. I repeat it, therefore, let those engagements be observed in their genuine sense. But, in my opinion, it is unnecessary and would be unwise to extend them.—From Washington's Farewell Address.

HALF TRUTHS

The average person is given to speaking in generalities. Not taking time to think a proposition through or not having the capacity to see the exceptions, one oftentimes makes general criticisms that are far from the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth.

For example, we saw the other day a criticism of trained nurses. Now naturally there are some trained nurses who are "hard boiled" and look more for the salary than they do for the welfare of their patients. But any one who has ever had any considerable experience with trained nurses knows that most of them are conscientious, self sacrificing and will go to any amount of trouble and will make sacrifices that few in any other profession would be called upon to make. The difficulty with the person making the criticism is that his experience was not broad enough or over a long enough time to justify him in reaching any conclusion about trained nurses as a class.

About every so often some wiser-than-thou sinner criticizes the preachers, classing them as soft soapers, players to the gallery and a lot of other nonsense far from the truth. Generally the critic of ministers of the gospel are those who do not go to church and those who know nothing of religion except the conclusions they have reached without any study and with precious little thought, because generally their brains are not capable of very much thought.

Again we hear and read wholesale criticism of teachers, merchants, farmers, lawyers, doctors and in fact those in any profession or business. There is no rule one can apply to a thousand men and women in any line of human endeavor without there being almost as many exceptions as those to whom the rule applies. One should be careful about making wholesale assertions, especially if those assertions reflect upon the integrity or service of any particular group. He should confine his remarks to a particular individual, for only in that way can he be really truthful and not reflect unjustly upon others.

LET 'EM SMOKE.

The Oklahoma senate passed an anti-cigarette law, but we are informed it will be either killed in the house or vetoed by the governor. Kansas now has before its legislature the most drastic anti-cigarette bill ever introduced in a law-making body, according to newspaper dispatches. There are agitators for anti-tobacco legislation in other states.

Now we are not going to quarrel with those who believe the use of tobacco should be prohibited by law, though we do believe they are so far wrong that they will never be successful in outlawing the use of the weed.

We hold no brief for the manufacturers of cigarettes or those who use them. In fact, we do not use them and discourage their use whenever possible. To be certain we advise now that the use of cigarettes is injurious and should not be indulged in. At the same time a person ought not to eat too much or work too much or sleep too much or get cold or wet or do a thousand and one other things for which nature punishes us.

The law should not attempt to regulate a person's habits when those habits injure only the person. In other words, prohibition could never have been justified on the ground of personal temperance. We do not have any particular sympathy for the individual who insists on getting drunk so far as he personally is concerned. It is because the person under the influence of intoxicating liquors endangers the lives and happiness of others that prohibition came into being. If the person who smokes cigarettes were given to shooting up towns, killing wives and children and playing havoc in general, there would be no argument about the matter. But such is not the case.

If a person wants to smoke, let him smoke. It is a bad habit, but the state should not attempt to regulate a person's entire life.

The law introduced in the Kansas legislature which reads, "When two trains approach a crossing at the same time, neither one shall proceed until the other has gone by," is not more foolishly expressed than some of the laws on our statute books. We should like to see laws written in plain English and interpreted with common sense. The idea of letting a criminal escape punishment simply because the indictment did not contain the one word, "malicious," is a case in point.

Not long ago we were amused to hear two self confessed boll weevil experts give exactly contradictory ways of exterminating the pest. In this connection, we recall a bit of wisdom a man got off a few days ago. "If the world were as full of men who can do what they say they can as it is of men who say what can be done, it would be a rosy garden we live in." In other words, he complains that the world is too much troubled with talk and not blessed enough with actual accomplishment.

A general feeling of optimism comes from every one who makes a trip to the north or east and returns here. It appears that prosperity has set in in earnest in the industrial centers. If this is kept up until Oklahoma gets more crops on the market, things ought to boom here. As it is a better trend of affairs is evident.

A "FATHER AND SON" AFFAIR IN WASHINGTON'S TIME

The Forum of the Press

A Boy's Reading.

(Harrisonburg Telegraph)
The editor of the Kansas City Star has been sought by an anxious mother for advice as to how to prevent her Twenty-year-old boy reading everything he could lay his hands on. The editor's wise answer was "Do nothing."

In these days when the movies lure the boys and girls away from books and tend to make long, well-told tales tedious by comparison with the screen story, a mother might well give thanks that her son wants to read and will read practically anything he can find.

The younger generation knows little enough about good books. Nor is it the fault of youth if some libraries are pokey places, while the movies offer every delight of the heart. Consequently, the boy or girl who loves good books is destined to acquire that fullness of learning which is always marked in the life and language of a well-read person. Nor will such young people be likely to read anything especially dangerous even though their taste is for "anything they can lay their hands on."

Most adult readers can look back on a youth marked by a catholicity of taste in books.

This taste ranged from the lurid blood-and-thunder stories that retailed for a nickel, and were traded from boy to boy, up to such weighty one as "Monte Cristo" and "Les Miserables."

Any modern parent with a child evincing such desires for books should rejoice and be glad. Reading still maketh the full man.

French Girl Here to Study American Agriculture Plans

AMES, Iowa, Feb. 20. — Miss Madeline Aydt, who is a student at Iowa State college here, is one of the two girls which the French government has sent to this country to learn agricultural extension methods, so as to be able to take up the work of reconstruction. The other girl is studying at the University of Georgia.

Miss Aydt will spend a month or two studying English and getting acquainted with customs and practices here. Then she will tour the state with agricultural extension experts studying gardening, dairying, poultry and bee keeping.

She plans to return to France next spring where she will inaugurate this work there.

ELSIE FERGUSON HAS BIG ROLE IN "OUTCAST"

Paramount Star Does All the 'Script Demands of Her.

In the role of "Miriam" in her latest Paramount picture, "Outcast," which comes to the McSwain theater today Elsie Ferguson has one of the most strenuous roles of her screen career. Usually Miss Ferguson plays silk clothes roles, as they are known in studio parlance, or ladies of luxury, but in "Outcast," she is a poor, struggling girl of the streets. And as such she is forced to do many stunts that require nerve and physical stamina.

For one of the scenes in the picture, Miss Ferguson was required to jump from an ocean liner into the sea. This she did without resorting to the use of a "double." She is rescued by a seaplane. In this scene, David Powell, who plays the part of Geoffrey, her sweetheart, swims out to her and drags her through the water to the plane, which carries them both to safety.

When Chet Withey, the director, began negotiating for another girl to do the dangerous stunts, Miss Ferguson stopped him short and insisted on doing her role from start to finish. These water scenes are said to be the most thrilling in the picture.

Michigan has added golf, hockey, swimming and wrestling to minor varsity sports program.

Don't Grow Old Before Your Husband

Science Now Shows What Often Causes Premature Loss of Youth, Beauty and Attractiveness and Makes Women Fretful, Nervous and Run-Down

If Your Face Is Haggard, Thin and Pale, Try at Our Expense, This Simple Home Remedy Which Often Makes Women Look and Feel Years Younger and Surprisingly Increases Strength and Energy

Thousands of women are like the woman in this picture. They have grown old much more rapidly than their husbands. The roses have faded from their cheeks, they are weak, pale and careworn at a time of life when they should still be filled with buoyant health and radiant with youthful beauty—pale, thin, watery blood has fastened its grip upon them and is gradually sapping their health, vitality and beauty. In most cases men safeguard their health better than women by eating coarser foods, being more out of doors and leading more active lives, therefore keeping their blood stream strong and vigorous. For want of good blood a woman may look old and feeble at thirty; pale, haggard and all run-down—while at fifty or sixty, with good health and plenty of rich, red blood, she may still be young in feeling and so full of life and attractiveness as to defy detection of her real age.

For the purpose of enriching the blood and helping to create millions of new red blood cells, there is nothing like good old Nuxated Iron. Physicians usually prescribe two five-grain tablets after meals. Nuxated Iron directly increases the activity of the blood making organs and supplies true red blood food, thus increasing the power of the body to transform lifeless food matter into living cells, flesh and tissue.

CAPACITY AUDIENCE LISTEN TO COLLEGE PRESENTATION

A capacity audience placed its stamp of approval on the College play, "It pays to advertise" last night at the presentation at the McSwain theatre.

The delightful comedy trend of the story of the play kept the audience at attention during the entire presentation.

The story wove itself in the desires of an old financier, a soap king, who hoped to see his only son follow in his footsteps and abandon his reckless life of pleasure.

The role of the wayward son as interpreted by Hubert Priest furnished a pleasing background for the plots of intrigue and delightful comedy. Dolly Gay played the stellar role opposite Hubert Priest.

The play was presented under the direction of Miss Julia Nicholson.

Following is the cast:

Mary Grayson—Dolly Gay

Johnson—Dewey Gilmore

Coutess—De Beawren

Edna Driskill

Rodney Martin—Hubert Priest

Cyrus Martin—Charles Cuning

GOOD SOAP FOR

TWO CENTS A POUND

Make It At Home By This

Easy Process—Takes Less

Than 30 Minutes.

Nowadays, more and more women are doing as their mothers did and are making their own soap. If you have never tried it, you will be surprised to see how easy it is to make good soap, soft soap, hard soap or floating soap, just by using kitchen scraps and waste grease together with a can of Merry War Lye, the safe and sure soapmaker.

In the old days when soap was made by the boiling process it took nearly all day to make a kettle of soap. Now it is hardly any work at all—requires no boiling—takes less than 30 minutes. Saves you money and gives you all the pure, clean soap you need for kitchen, laundry and all household purposes.

You will find simple directions for soap-making on the label of every can of Merry War Lye.

Merry War Powdered Lye comes in a convenient can with revolving sifting top that cannot come off, cannot get lost, recloses tightly and preserves contents. It is economical to buy and easy to use.

CHAPTER IX

"Marvelous!"

Lady Erythea recoiled. There were, after all, enough hysterics in the house already. Evidently nothing was to be learned from her niece.

"Go back to your bed and don't be silly. There is no danger," snapped Lady Erythea. The sharp whirr of a motor on the drive below drew her attention, and she hastened downstairs.

The car drew up at the entrance with a jerk and ejected three policemen; a constable, a sergeant and Inspector Panke of Stanhoe, a man of enormous energy for his bulk, with thick black eyebrows and a singularly bitter expression. He ran up the steps, but before he could open his mouth Lady Erythea forestalled him.

"You are wasting your time here! Go at once in chase of a motorcycle that got away ten minutes ago by the Stanhoe road!"

"A motorcycle!" exclaimed the inspector almost joyously, as one who seems his theories confirmed. "Sergeant, get after them at once in the car—take Panke with you. As we didn't meet them they must have taken the branch lane at the crossroads—away with you, man—quick!"

"I shall consider no reward too great, if my emeralds are recovered!" exclaimed Lady Erythea, as the car drove away. "Do you think your men will be successful, Inspector? My butler allowed the malefactor to slip through his fingers in the most fabulous manner. Can you—"

"One moment!" interrupted the inspector. "The thieves were seen then, by your ladyship's servants? Was one of them a woman?"

He had to bawl the question into Lady Erythea's ear-trumpet, which Alexander brought. When she understood, Lady Erythea's eyes flashed fiercely.

"Yes!" she exclaimed, "a young woman. You suspected a woman then—before you came here?"

"I do more than suspect, my lady," said Inspector Panke grimly. "I know!"

"Who was this woman, Inspector, and when do you propose to apprehend her? We have a piece of the creature's skirt!"

"Hah! let me see it at once!" said the inspector, his eyes lighting up. It was brought to him and its capture explained. Inspector Panke examined the yard of cloth, tried its strength, rubbed it, held it up to the light, peered keenly at the torn edges.

"Good!" he said under his breath, and turned upon Mr. Lambe so sharply that that gentleman jumped. "Your telephone, sir—where is it?"

"Who is the abominable creature?" exclaimed Lady Erythea. "And why is she at large, a scourge upon the country, breaking into—"

"She won't scourge it much longer," said the inspector grimly. "I'll very soon give your ladyship news of her—I want the telephone, quick!"

"This way," said Mr. Lambe, and led him to the call-room. Inspector Panke remained at the instrument a considerable time. He emerged triumphant.

"If they get away now—well, may I never handle another case," he said quietly to Mr. Lambe. "I can't answer questions at present, sir; I've got to get busy. If I might suggest that you induce her ladyship to retire, and come round with me yourself—it hampered me a bit, that ear-trumpet, and we've got to be quick—you can explain to her afterward."

Alexander was successful in persuading his aunt to retire from the field, though she went breathing threats of vengeance, and mourning aloud for the emeralds. Inspector Panke made a rapid examination of the safe, the wall beneath Lady Erythea's window, and the ground outside. He took a full description of the missing jewels, and briskly questioned the servants.

"I've only time to say this, sir, before I go," he said, turning to Mr. Lambe. "I recognize the work of Jack the Climber in this case, as plainly as if they'd left the name written on the wall! It was him and Calamity Kate. I thought for a moment it might be Bender Williams, who was released from Portland last month. But it's undoubtedly Jack's job. For some months past a series of daring burglaries have occurred at country houses in various parts of England, and, so far, I'm bound to say they've beaten us; no arrest has been made. The methods of the thieves are so similar in each case, that it is clear to an expert all these jobs were done by the same person—or, rather, two persons, a man and a woman. The man, besides being as smart a hand at cracking a safe as ever lived, seems to have the training of a steeplejack as well. He can climb anything that a fly could get a foothold on; in fact, he's known as the Climber.

"The woman, if anything, is more dangerous than the man. All that's known of them is that they're probably foreigners—some say Americans—and that they use a motorcycle when they're on the job.

"Briefly, what happened here is this: The man got in through Lady Erythea's window. There's the marks of him on the wall. He might have got in still easier by the next one, where the veranda is. But he went in through her ladyship's bedroom."

Mr. Lambe's eyes met those of the inspector; the same thought passed between them; whatever might be said of Jack the Climber's moral character, he was a brave man.

"And so to her anteroom, and opened the safe without waking her—of course, she's pretty deaf. The burglar-alarm didn't go till he'd done it; and for that matter all these precautions of her ladyship's are simply bunco; the house is an easy job for a crackman. Jack got away by the same road he came, and the only thing that puzzles me is why Kate had to bolt for it downstairs. It isn't usual for her to be in the house at all—we believe her job is helping her partner up and watch-keeping outside.

"However, there it is. And this bit of blue cloth, sir," concluded Inspector Panke, holding it up, "is going to put Calamity Kate in my hands."

He folded the torn fragment of cloth, put it in his pocket, and moved briskly to the door. "Goodnight, sir! Before very long I'll show you the rest of this skirt—and its owner!"

DESCENDENT OF COLUMBUS LOCATED IN LONDON

LONDON.—Among the law students called to the bar at Middle Temple recently was C. J. Columbus who, although his name is spelled differently, is a descendant of the famous navigator Christopher Columbus. The son of the discoverer of America, Diego Columbus, was appointed by the government of Genoa to be governor of the island of Chios in the Aegean Sea. The family settled there, and in time adopted the Greek method of spelling their name.

STUDENTS UNION BUILDING AT O.U.

Stadium Committee Comes to Rescue of Y. M. C. A. in Building Plan.

NORMAN, Feb. 22.—(Special)—With the ashes from the burning of the University of Oklahoma Y. M. C. A. building hardly cold Saturday, plans were set on foot to construct on the Sooner campus a student union building similar to those of Harvard, Michigan and Kansas.

The stadium committee of the university came to the rescue of the Y. M. C. A. with an offer to combine the drive for funds for a stadium with a campaign for a student union which was promptly accepted. The present plan is to launch a drive for $100,000 to be used in the construction of a modern stadium and student union.

The stadium committee agreed to finance the student union and with funds left from insurance and the selling of the Y. M. C. A. building site, work will begin immediately on the first unit of the new union building which will cost $250,000.

when completed. The first unit will be ready for occupancy at the opening of the new school year next September.

A student union building is designed to house student life, organizations, activities and provide a place for recreation during leisure hours. Within such a building will be located the offices of the student government, the Y. M. C. A., reception rooms, a cafeteria and cafe, banquet rooms, parlors for university pastors, offices for religious organizations, swimming pools, the student publications, student book exchange, library, rooms for parent visitors and numerous other lines of activity.

By building on the unit plan a part of this proposed building will be ready next September and will replace the building owned and operated by the Y. M. C. A. which was burned. Student committees worked up the plans and put them before the student body for approval. The student body heartily endorsed the movement and assured its support.

TALKS OF TANLAC

Long Island Capitalist Says Treatment Ended Indigestion, Headaches and He Gained 10 Lbs.

When a man of such prominence as John F. Terry, wealthy property owner, Box 655, Patchogue, Long Island, N. Y., will openly pay high tribute to a medicine in his travels over the country, it goes without saying that such a preparation must possess unusual merit. On a recent trip from New York to San Francisco, Mr. Terry, while waiting for train connections at the Union Depot in Kansas City, Mo., gave out the following statement regarding Tanlac:

"The splendid health I am enjoying since taking Tanlac is worth a fortune to me, and I'm glad to show my appreciation by spreading the good news about the medicine everywhere I go.

"Indigestion, nervousness, headaches and dizzy spells had pulled down my health to such an extent I could neither work right or rest right. But since taking Tanlac, and I have only used three bottles, just half the full treatment, I haven't an ailment in the world. I'm eating and sleeping fine, have gained ten pounds and feel as vigorous and active as I ever did in my life."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Over 35-million bottles sold.

Work is progressing in the Beebe field, though no new developments have occurred for the last few days. Work has started on cleaning out this discovery well in section 32-5-5.

Foreign Trade for Japan Now Showing Constant Increase

TOKIO.—The Japanese foreign trade for the year 1922 indicates a slight improvement over the preceding year, said Mr. Arai, minister of Commerce. "Up to November, 1922, for instance exports reached 1,478,200,000 yen and imports 1,745,730,000 yen, thereby registering an increase in the former of 371,770,000 yen and of 300,000,000 in the latter. It is a matter for congratulation that in the latter half of the year 1922, the trade resulted in the excess of export over import due chiefly to the brisk demand abroad for silk.

"Viewed as a whole, however, there is something in the past foreign trade that indicates depression of business beyond the extent of the usual years. But this is a tendency common to all the world nations, nor is it insurmountable if efforts be made for the improvement, so far as Japan is concerned, of the quality of goods and the reduction of prices.

MAIN STREET

—BY—

One fortunate thing about amateur plays and that is that Shakespeare is dead.

Could that renowned critic roll over in his just grave and witness the tragedy depicted in some comedies he would be justified in recalling his immortal Macbeth.

Misguided affection was also evident when a certain young lady star is alleged and accused of bolting the outline of the play and dodging the approaching kiss from the hero, who at the first attempt sported a Hank Mann mustache.

And then the audience was in doubt whether the aged father was attempting to fool his son or them when he forgot his cane and started out all gory and fresh while suffering from the gout.

But all in all Main Street would not attempt to detract from the merits of the play and agrees that it was a credit to the school and Ada.

Woman Asks Damages But Finds Dead Man Not Her Husband

(By the Associated Press)

MIAMI, Okla., Feb. 22.—After filing suit in the district court for $30,000 damages for the death of her husband, John Smith, supposedly killed in a mine accident near here, Mrs. Nellie Smith was yesterday taken to Picher to view the body and she at once declared that the body was that of a man unknown to her. The suit will probably be dismissed.

The dead man was carried on the rolls of the mining company as J. Harris, but papers found on his body indicated that his name was John Smith. His relatives have not been located.

Federal Activities Stop at Washington on National Holiday

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—Federal government activities, except in congress, were suspended today for the observance of Washington's birthday. Both senate and house remained in session in an effort to clear as much as possible from the mass of legislation now pending.

The official celebration of the day centered around the Washington monument. Senator Weeks laid a wreath at the foot of the monument and he and other speakers delivered addresses eulogizing the memory of the first president.

Among those making the annual pilgrimage to Mt. Vernon, were 600 boy scouts.

COLLEGE NOTES

Coach Thompson of the college reports that a large number of teams are being entered in the district tournament which will take place in the college gym March 1, 2, and 3. This tournament is an annual affair, taking place under the auspices of the East Central Teachers College and will be the ninth district meet for the girls and the fourth for the boys. Mr. Thompson estimates that there will be probably sixty or more teams entered for the tournament by Saturday, which is the last day for entering.

Cups are offered for winners of both boys and girls matches. The Ada Evening News has provided a cup for the boys which has been won in turn by Wewoka, Francis twice and Ada, Coffman, Bobbitt & Sparks are offering a cup for the winning girl team. The winning of the tournament for three years by one team gives permanent possession of the cup. The Wewoka girls now have the cup as their property and the same firm is offering a new cup.

Tickets for the tournament may be secured for twenty-five cents with a student ticket or fifty cents without. All money taken in at the tournament will be prorated to the contesting teams to help pay their expenses to and from this city.

Boys teams already entered will come from Calvin, Allen, Dustin, Maud, Francis, Henryetta, Lehigh, Stonewall, Ada, Macomb, Okmulgee, Okemah, Clarita, Wayne, Tishomingo, Hickory, Sulphur, Milburn, Seminole. Girls teams have been entered from Calvin, Maud, Francis, Stonewall, Ada, Stratford, Clarita, Hickory, Sulphur, Mill Creek, Wewoka, and Weleetka.

Baseball supplies are arriving and all the equipment that has been ordered is expected soon, according to Coach Thompson of the college. Mr. Thompson states that he will have uniforms for about thirty players and that that number would be chosen from aspirants for the team to compose the squad. He said, "If I had a hundred uniforms, I would have a hundred men out to fill them." Interest in baseball is running and prospects for another state championship team are excellent. Prospective players are already limbering up every warm day in preparation for the actual competition later in the spring.

The High school band was in charge of assembly at the college this morning in celebration of George Washington's birthday. Their program was greatly appreciated by the student body of the college. They visited the college in return for a visit of the college band to the high school recently. Their program consisted of: Flume March; cornet solo by Richard Simpson; North Wind March; cornet solo by Mr. Hill; Under the Double Eagle; Saxophone solo by Harold Allen; and Bombasto March.

Following assembly this morning at the college Professor Fentem called together all the students who are taking part in any of the musical activities of the college. It was decided that in view of the rapidly growing interest in such activities and the increasing excellence of the instruction that may be had at the local institution, that the students who compose the musical department should form a more definite organization which will make the music department a feature of the school. Mr. Fentem outlined plans for advertising over the district and the opportunities offered here, and appointed a committee of five to see that the department should be more fully advertised through the annual than had been planned.

DUBLIN MAY GET BUILDING HABIT

Despite Turmoil Dublin is Now Considering Big Improvement Plan.

(By the Associated Press)

DUBLIN.—Despite all the turmoil and discouragement in Ireland at the present time, there are on foot two great and expensive projects for the improvement of the city of Dublin.

Elaborate plans for enormous changes have been prepared, which would make a new modern city out of the old. The promoters of the principal plan estimate its cost at ten million pounds sterling, while its critics put the cost at over thirty million, and there is no visible source from which either sum could be raised.

One plan is to build a large central railway station near the ruined custom house, and turn the custom house into a new post office. Since the destruction of the post office in Easter week, 1916, Dublin has had no central post office except inadequate makeshifts, and even the makeshifts were completely destroyed in the fighting which followed the capture of the Four Courts last July.

Another element in the plan is the building of a new parliament house on the site of the Royal Hospital at Kilmaham. This historic building was, until this year, the residence of the commander of the British forces, and also a hospital. The commander in chief and the invalids have all gone, and the place is now at the disposal of the Irish government.

The Free State Senate is now housed in the art museum, and the Dail in the adjoining Lenister House, taken over temporarily from the Royal Dublin Society. A new parliament house will sooner or later have to be built. The Kilmaham proposal has been criticised by those who think that the Irish Parliament should be housed in the building of a new parliament house of Garterian Parliament. But the government does not consider the bank premises suitable and even the sentimental association of the place is queried by some, who point out that the Free State is not the inheritor of the Grattan tradition, but of the tradition of Theobald Wolfe Tone for complete Irish independence.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—Mrs. John A. Logan, widow of the noted Union general of the civil war and later United States senator from Illinois, died today of influenza after an illness of ten days. Mrs. Logan was 84 years of age.

Holland and Abyssinia Only Countries Ruled Over by Royal Queens

(By the Associated Press)

THE HAGUE.—Only two important countries are actually ruled by queens, Holland and Abyssinia. Queen Wilhelmina ascended the throne of The Netherlands 33 years ago, while Walzeru Saudit was crowned at Addis Abeba in 1916. She is a daughter of the late King Menelik, who was reported dead so many times that the world was unwilling to believe the announcement of his death when it finally came in 1913. He was first succeeded by his nephew, Lij Yasu. But this new king was so friendly to the German cause in the world war that he was deposed by public proclamation, and his aunt was elevated to the throne. She is 47 years old and a member of the Semitic group known as Shoans, from which the ruling class springs.

Walzeru Saudit's empire contains about eight million persons, comprises an area twice as large as Turkey of today and eight times as large as New York State. Wilhelmina's territory in Europe has about the same population as Abyssinia, but only about one-thirtieth as much land. However, Wilhelmina has colonies with a population of 47,000,000 and an area twice as large as Abyssinia.

Skeleton of Man of Old Stone Age Located in Sweden

(By the Associated Press)

STOCKHOLM.—The well-preserved skeleton of a man who lived in the stone age, 5,000 years ago, has just been found on the west coast of Sweden by a commission of archaeologists which has been combing the countryside for ancient relics to be placed on exhibition at the exposition in Gothenburg this summer.

The Swedish experts, fifteen in number, have been at work for about seven years, and have succeeded in collecting 20,000 relics of antiquity. The results of their labor has been an accumulation of proofs that the North Sea coast of Sweden was inhabited as early as 3000 B. C.

The stone age skeleton, which is now being mounted in Gothenburg, was found during the excavation at Kungsbacka, a few miles south of this city. The ancient site of Kungsbacka has been chosen by some critics as the probable seat of Beowulf, the hero of the oldest epic poem in English literature; but Beowulf was a newcomer compared with the stone age man, who lived about 4,000 years before him.

The relics now brought to light include flint tools and weapons, ornaments, etc. In one of the graves about 2,000 years old were found the remains of a woman and her equipment, consisting of an amber necklace, weaver's reeds and distaff.
